

Virginia Commonwealth Student Commons Food Court — Richmond, VA

The Student Commons Phase 3 at Virginia Commonwealth University in Richmond, Virginia project included the construction of 2 new food courts. The food courts were built one at a time and completed while the students continued to use the Student Commons Building.

The food courts included Chick-fil-A, a deli, pizza, asian foods and coffee service along with a student convenience store. The Architect on this project was Clark Nexsen from Norfolk, Virginia.

